The Interfaith Council seeks to . . .

- Speak where appropriate, as a cohesive body on behalf of human dignity.
- Publicize the breadth of religious programs that take place at IUP to provide interested students with a greater opportunity to participate in different programs.
- Enable students of different faiths to participate in programs together and provide information regarding their faith in order to learn from each other and dispel stereotypes.
- Assist new religious groups in obtaining official recognition as an IUP student organization.
- Provide memorial services to celebrate the lives of deceased students and to provide comfort and closure to their friends.
- A resource for IUP students in emergencies or crisis situations.

Interfaith Council

Indiana University of Pennsylvania

The Interfaith Council recognizes and affirms the spiritual part of every human being. The IUP Interfaith Council functions as an interdenominational body where people of all faiths will be welcomed and included as equal partners. All member groups will have an equal right to vote.
