Part II. Description of Curriculum Change

1. Current Course Description and Number

SOC 427/527 - Soc Persp on Partner Violence

3c-0l-3cr

Prerequisite: SOC 151

Considers the range of theoretical explanations from a social perspective of the pervasive violence between intimate partners. Particularly examines the research on intimate partner violence and the implications of this research for programs and policies assisting both the victim and the abuser.

2. Proposed Course Description and Number Change

SOC 327/527 - Soc Persp on Partner Violence

3c-0l-3cr

Prerequisite: SOC 151

Considers the range of theoretical explanations from a social perspective of the pervasive violence between intimate partners. Particularly examines the research on intimate partner violence and the implications of this research for programs and policies assisting both the victim and the abuser.

3. Rationale: This course is a substantive sociology course that is strongly recommended to be taken for content purposes prior to the 391/392 sociological practice sequence and thus, should reflect a 300 course level and expectations of students at that level, rather than a 400 level course. It is a dual level course; however, we are simply changing the course number of the undergraduate course (427) to 327 and wish to keep it as a dual level course. Course content is not changing.
