

EDSP 949 Practicum II (3-6 credits)

The Practicum course involves a series of opportunities for students to practice clinical and supervisory skills in a highly structured university clinic setting. Based on their level of training and experience, students will be required to demonstrate distinct skills related to: (1) organization and dynamics of the educational process; (2) assessment for intervention; (3) direct and indirect intervention methods; and (4) supervision of the clinical practice of other school psychologists. Students in the certification sequence take EDSP 949 (previously EDSP 750) twice for a total of 6 credits. Students entering the doctoral program holding school psychology certification from another university take EDSP 949 (previously EDSP 750) for 3 credits as part of their doctoral sequence of courses.

Prerequisite: For approved school psychologist certification and doctoral degree candidates only.
