Degrees

The departments of Anthropology, Economics, English, Foreign Languages, Geography and Regional Planning, History, Journalism and Public Relations, Philosophy, Political Science, Religious Studies, and Sociology and the Asian Studies Committee offer work leading to a bachelor of arts degree. The bachelor of science degree is offered in regional planning. The bachelor of science in education is offered in English, social science, social studies, and Spanish.

Master of arts or master of science degrees are offered by English, Geography and Regional Planning, History, Political Science, and Sociology. The English and Sociology departments offer the doctor of philosophy degree. Information about these programs may be obtained from the School of Graduate Studies and Research.

Pre-law Interdisciplinary Minor

Successful lawyers possess excellent skills in writing and speaking and can analyze a problem and explain its solution in clear, logical terms. The Pre-law Interdisciplinary minor prepares the student especially well in these areas and provides the skills and knowledge needed to do well in the law school admissions examination. This minor may be taken with any major other than those with pre-law tracks. Although a pre-law minor is not required for law school admission, this interdisciplinary minor will provide students with the prerequisite skills for law school. Interested students should contact the Office of the Dean in the College of Humanities and Social Sciences.

Departmental Honors Tracks

Departmental honors tracks in the College of Humanities and Social Sciences enable eligible students to participate in advanced study in their disciplines. These tracks are particularly encouraged for students who intend to seek admission to graduate or professional schools.

Honors course work is recorded on university transcripts, and students completing the departmental honors tracks will be recognized at commencement ceremonies. For detailed guidance in departmental honors tracks, students should consult the description in their major department and meet with their advisors.

Junior-Year Review

A review of degree requirements is completed for all students who are candidates for a degree offered by the college. The purpose of the review is to verify that a student is on track to meet graduation requirements by his/her anticipated graduation date. Completed junior-year review reports must be approved by the department chairperson and the dean's associate.

It remains the student's responsibility to apply for graduation by the announced deadline. Failure to meet the graduation application deadline may result in a delay in the student's graduation.

College Foreign Language Requirements

Students whose primary major is in the College of Humanities and Social Sciences must complete up through the 12th credit of a foreign language sequence. They may choose any of the languages offered, including the self-instruction in the Critical Languages program. Some courses taught in the traditional format (Chinese, French, German, Japanese, Spanish) also count toward Liberal Studies electives. Courses in American Sign Language and computer languages do not count toward the college language requirement.

For students with previous foreign language instruction or experience, individual placement into foreign language courses may be done during placement testing and registration before the first semester at IUP. Students may also take a placement exam before, but not after, beginning course work in a particular language. Students who place into classes beyond the 12th credit within a foreign language are considered to have met the language requirement. Students who place beyond the introductory course, but not beyond the 12th credit, are only required to complete through the 12th credit. For example, the first courses in the Spanish curriculum are three 4-credit classes: SPAN 101, 102, and 201. A student who places into SPAN 102 would only need to pass SPAN 102 and 201 in order to meet the language requirement. Students with no previous foreign language background will take entry-level courses, which may be counted as free electives in the total required for graduation.

Any undergraduate international student, registered as such at IUP, whose acquired native language is other than English and who demonstrates an acceptable proficiency in English, is exempt from the foreign language requirement if the department of the student's major does not require a specific foreign language. Also, any student with a secondary major in the college whose primary major does not require foreign language does not need to complete the college-level requirement.

Degree Requirements

In addition to the university's Liberal Studies requirements, students seeking a baccalaureate degree in this college must complete the requirements for a major as established by the department through which they wish to specialize. Statements of these requirements, and the requirements for those minoring in a specific field, appear in the department sections that follow. A dual baccalaureate degree or double major or minor may encompass a discipline outside as well as within the college but should be selected only with advisor approval. As a general principle, there is considerable latitude in course choice for Humanities and Social Sciences majors. The intermediate-level foreign language requirement applies without exception to all Humanities and Social Sciences four-year degree programs.

Critical Languages Program

The Critical Languages program is a self-instructional/tutorial approach to less commonly taught foreign languages. Students meet with a tutor three hours per week in addition to practicing with audio cassettes. Most tutors are native speakers of the language. Professional teachers of the specific language may be brought in from other universities to evaluate student performance. The final grade is based on final examination as well as on performance during the tutorial sessions. Interested students must contact the coordinator before registration. Each course carries 3 credits.

The following languages may be available for study: Arabic, Dutch, Finnish, Modern Greek, Hebrew, Hindi, Hungarian, Korean, Portuguese, Russian, Swahili, and Swedish.

Internship Programs

Humanities and Social Sciences departments encourage internship programs that allow students to engage in supervised experiences in a work setting related to their personal career goals, giving them the benefits of mentoring and coaching from professionals in the discipline. Students have completed internships in a number of settings, from legislative offices in Harrisburg and Washington, DC, to offices at the county level including county planning and development offices and children and youth services, Common Pleas Court to human services agencies such as Head Start and from Lifesteps. When completed for academic credit, students will complete a project and/or a final paper that is approved by a faculty internship supervisor. For more information about specific internship programs, students should consult with the chairperson of the department in which the student is majoring/minoring.

Foreign Study Programs

College majors may be interested in the various foreign study programs and tours offered. Credits obtained through such arrangements normally are applicable toward a Humanities and Social Sciences degree. Also of interest are the college's credit-awarding programs at Valladolid (Spain) and Nancy (France), as well as the Summer Study in Mexico program.

IUP at Costa Rica Summer Program: The Department of Foreign Languages has established a four-week study program at the National University of Costa Rica, located in Heredia. Participants live with Costa Rican families and take classes at the university. This program is intended for students who are going abroad for the first time, and preference is given to beginning students. Participants earn 4 transfer credits in Spanish from the UNA. For details and brochures, contact the Department of Foreign Languages.

IUP at Mexico Summer Program: The Department of Foreign Languages sponsors a program of study in Spanish language in Mexico. The program is located at Cuernavaca, and the cost of the program includes transportation, complete room and board, insurance, and tuition. The student may earn up to 6 credits of undergraduate or graduate credit. Internship opportunities are available for students with fluency in Spanish. For details and brochures, contact the Department of Foreign Languages.

IUP at Nancy: IUP has established a study program with the University of Nancy, France. Participants in the Nancy program must pay a foreign exchange fee for each semester in the program. For details, contact the Department of Foreign Languages.

IUP at Valladolid: Through the Department of Foreign Languages, the university has offered a spring semester of study at the University of Valladolid, Spain, for more than 40 years. The participants live in private homes. For details, contact the Department of Foreign Languages.

Committee of Asian Studies

Alan T. Baumler, Coordinator

The Committee of Asian Studies offers an interdisciplinary major and a minor to provide students with the opportunity to increase their knowledge of the world's largest, most populous, and most diverse continent. Students enrolled in the Asian studies major or minor will find that the course offerings furnish excellent preparation for careers in business, government, journalism and public relations, and teaching.

To complete the Asian studies major, a student must take a minimum of 33 credits in courses dealing with Asia. All Asian studies majors must take ASIA 200 and must demonstrate at least an intermediate-level proficiency of an Asian language, doing so either by passing the intermediate sequence of one of the Asian languages offered at IUP or by demonstrating that they have acquired the equivalent proficiency level elsewhere. The remaining courses to be taken fall into two groups: "Category A: Exclusively Asia-Focused" and "Category B: Substantially Asia-Focused." At least 23 credits must come from Category A; no more than 3 credits may come from Category B. It is highly recommended that students complement their Asian studies degree with a minor or second major, preferably in such fields as anthropology, economics, fine arts, geography, history, international business, international studies, journalism and public relations, political science, or religious studies.

To minor in Asian studies, students must complete a minimum of 18 credits, no more than 6 of which may have the prefix of their major. ASIA 200 is required of all Asian studies minors. At least 12 credits must come from Category A (Exclusively Asia-Focused); 3 credits of an Asian language course may apply to the Category A requirement. No more than 3 credits from Category B (Substantially Asia-Focused) may be applied to the minor.

Asian Studies Honors Track

The honors program is open by permission of the Asian Studies Committee to Asian Studies majors with a minimum 3.25 cumulative GPA and a 3.5 GPA in Asian Studies courses. Students complete 36 credits in Asian Studies (instead of the normal 33) including two semesters of honors thesis research and writing. Honors theses are completed individually under the direction of a professor who specializes in the student's area of interest and are approved by a thesis committee comprising the coordinator and two other readers, one of whom may come from outside the program.

Students interested in the Asian Studies honors program should discuss this opportunity as early as possible with their advisors. Students may file a declaration of intent during the sophomore year; a formal application for admission must be made, normally early in the junior year. The program is particularly encouraged for students intending to seek admission to graduate or professional schools. Honors course work is designated on university transcripts; students completing the honors program are recognized at commencement ceremonies.

Latin American Studies Minor

The Latin American Studies minor is a multidisciplinary program that brings together courses focusing on the history, literature, culture, geography, political economy, and social organization of Latin America. This minor is designed to increase awareness and understanding of Latin American peoples, environments, and cultures. Its purpose is to combine an area focus with the Liberal Studies requirements of the IUP curriculum. The minor helps IUP students to enrich their understanding of world cultures and of the complexity of cultural diversity in a changing world. In addition, one goal is to expand student awareness of the contributions people of this region have made to the United States and internationally. A Latin American studies minor is thus valuable in an increasingly diverse society, especially since people of Hispanic descent represent the largest minority population in the United States.

Students must complete 18 credits to earn a minor in Latin American studies. In keeping with the multidisciplinary approach of the program, students are encouraged to take courses from departments throughout the university. Students can count no more than 9 credits from the same department (or 6 credits within their major) toward the minor. At least three courses (9 credits) must come from Category A: Exclusively Latin America-Focused. Other courses may come from either Category A or Category B: Substantially Latin America-Focused. Special topics and independent study courses may be applied to either category with the approval of the Latin American Studies Committee. Students enrolled in the colleges of Natural Sciences and Mathematics and Humanities and Social Sciences who are considering a minor in Latin American studies are strongly encouraged to take SPAN 201 to complete their Liberal Studies language requirement. Students should consult with the program coordinator to determine if there are any prerequisites for the courses listed below. Through counseling, the program coordinator will work with individual departments to determine if students might be qualified for prerequisite exemptions. Students who complete courses through established study-abroad centers in Latin America can apply for credit toward the Latin American Studies minor. Each request for transfer credit will be considered on a case-by-case basis by the program coordinator.

- Required Course: LAS 480
- Category A: Exclusively Latin America-Focused courses are devoted to a combination or subset of the following topics: the countries that compose Latin America, its physical environments, and the human systems and cultures of the region.
- Category B: Substantially Latin America-Focused courses have significant material specifically about the countries that compose Latin America, its physical environments, and the human systems and cultures of the regions. The remainder of the course materials establishes relevant comparisons and contexts for Latin American themes.

Pan-African Studies Minor

The Pan-African Studies minor is a multidisciplinary program that brings together courses focusing on the vitality and accomplishments of pre-colonial African societies, the cultural and racial heritages of people of African descent in relationship to western societies, and aspects of modern-day African cultures. The cluster of courses included in this program represents a broad, diverse look at the diaspora of people of African origin. The minor helps students to enrich their cross-cultural studies; to heighten their awareness of and sensitivity to cultural diversity; and to expand their knowledge of world contributions of people of African heritage. A Pan-African Studies minor is thus valuable in an increasingly diverse society and attractive to employers and graduate schools alike.

Students must complete 18 credits to earn a minor in Pan-African studies. In addition to the one required course PNAF 131, at least three courses (9 credits) must come from Category A: Exclusively Pan-African-Focused courses. The remaining courses may come from either Category A or Category B: Substantially Pan-African-Focused courses. Because their content may vary, courses from Category B must be approved by the coordinator of Pan-African Studies to count for the minor. In addition, special topics, independent study, study abroad, and internship courses may be applied to either category with the approval of the program coordinator.

Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, and Queer (LGBT&Q) Studies Minor

The Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, and Queer (LGBT&Q) Studies minor provides students the opportunity to critically analyze influences on and of sexualities, sexual and gender identity formation, and experiences in various social contexts, with a focus on sexual minorities and on preparing students to live and work in a pluralistic society. This interdisciplinary minor includes courses from a variety of disciplines, including sociology, anthropology, psychology, English, health education, child development and family relations. Students will examine diversity in sexual and gender identities, and the intersections of sexualities and gender with other identities including race, religion, and social class. Students also explore institutional influences, including family, politics, labor force and economics, religion, education, health care, media, arts, and sciences and the local, national, and global discourse on sexualities and gender identities. The curriculum additionally includes critical examination of the formation and effects of public policies on individuals and communities of differing sexual and gender identities, analysis of representations, and the discourses on sexualities as expressed through language, literature, and the arts, as well as the policies and practices of social institutions such as health care, religion, politics, education, and sports, among others.

The Sustainability Studies minor is an interdisciplinary program that draws from expertise across the university. The program conceptualizes "sustainability" as an interdisciplinary approach to knowledge production and action that focuses on "the health and integrity of human societies and the natural world." Sustainability is classically defined as a stool with three legs—the social, the economic, and the environmental. The purpose of this program is to address the challenges of sustainability by balancing the humanities, social sciences, and natural sciences. The minor equips students to broaden their thinking about the origins of sustainability problems and possible solutions to include human institutions, ethics, and cultures as well as technologies and natural sciences. In so doing, the minor aims to foster student agency with regard to research on sustainability, responsibility to both human and non-human life, and civic engagement with local sustainability projects. The minor can supplement all majors in the university. Career possibilities include positions in design, law, food industries, planning and architecture, education, building certification, renewable energy, and waste management.

Students must complete 18 credits and a capstone experience (described below) to earn a minor in sustainability studies. The program's interdisciplinary approach encourages students to take courses from a variety of departments. The program is structured as follows:

- 1. All students will take SUST 201 Introduction to Sustainability.
- 2. Students must then take at least 12 credits from Category A, defined as courses in which substantial content is foundational to engagement with sustainability. These credits must be distributed across three "clusters," each of which denotes a major aspect of sustainability (see below). Having taken one course from each of the three clusters, students will then be able to take the remaining Category A credits from a cluster of their choosing.
- 3. Only 3 credits may come from Category B, defined as courses in which significant content is foundational to engagement with sustainability.

- Because their content may vary, courses from Category B must be approved by the program director to count for the minor.
- At least 6cr must be at the 300 level or above.

- 5. Only one course may come from the student's major.
- With the exception of SUST courses, no course prefix may be used more than twice without written permission from the program director.
- 7. Special topics, independent study courses, and internship courses may be applied to either Category A or Category B with the approval of the Sustainability Studies Committee.
- Students should consult with the program director to determine if there are any prerequisites for the courses listed below. Through counseling, the program coordinator will work with individual departments to determine if students may qualify for prerequisite exemptions.
- Students will work with an advisor from the Sustainability Studies program to develop a capstone experience that synthesizes their knowledge and skills related to sustainability. This requirement may be fulfilled by one of the following options: a portfolio, conference presentation, or other scholarly activity approved by the program director.

Women's and Gender Studies Program

Website: www.iup.edu/womens Lynn Botelho, Director

The Women's and Gender Studies minor is designed to increase students' interdisciplinary knowledge about the gendered nature of women's experiences and the ways that all genders are shaped by history, culture, and society. In order to achieve this goal, the program offers courses using a variety of theories and methodologies and from a range of disciplines, such as anthropology, art, communication media, criminology, English, the fine arts, journalism and public relations, literature, philosophy, political science, psychology, religious studies, and sociology. The program explores gendered hierarchies and the impact of gender on the experiences of women, as well as women- and gendered-centered knowledge productions and learning. Students are encouraged to challenge traditional theories and research regarding women and gender through innovative and experimental classroom experiences and writing assignments. Students analyze the world, imagine and re-envision it, and seek to enact social transformation in both theory and practice.

A minor in women's and gender studies strengthens and supplements every academic major and later professional careers. Students' awareness of gendered, sexualized, classed, and racialized hierarchies make them valuable professionals in a range of careers, from business and banking to social work and law.
