3. A solid grounding in Utilitarianism and Kantian Ethics is essential for graduate work in ethics. This material is taught in PH222 as is customary for an introductory ethics course. Requiring PH405 rather than PH222 resulted in too much overlap of material in PH405. Rather than increase the total number of required credits for the major, we choose to change the required course. Requiring an introductory course in ethics rather than an advanced course is consistent with customary practice in our discipline.

PART III

1. Students already in the existing program who have priorly taken PH405 will not be required to take PH222. Students who have not taken PH405 will be required to take PH222.
2. Faculty teaching loads will not be affected; PH222 is an existing course that is offered every term.
3. This change does not necessitate any additional resources.
4. Any increase in students enrolling in PH222 will be slight and necessitate no adjustments on the part of the department.

PART IV

Not relevant. No new courses proposed.

PART V

There is no curricular change here other than a change in which ethics course, advanced or introductory, is required of our majors. Hence there is no effect on either any other department or the Liberal Studies Program. No support letters needed.
