Awards and Other Activities

Timothy Austin conducted field work in the Southern Philippines during the summer of 2008. Research focused on the normalization of bribery and extortion at the village level. In the summer of 2006, field work was conducted in Singapore to examine crime prevention in high-rise housing blocks.

Jake Gibbs is a founding member of the Integral Institute in Boulder, CO. He is also a Contemplative Practice Fellow with the American Council of Learned Societies.

Rosemary Gido received the first Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences Minorities and Women Coramae Richey Mann Leadership Award, March, 2008. Dr. Gido has developed four historical characters for re-enactment, Montana homesteading women for the period 1900-1920, based on her Fall 2007 sabbatical research in MT. She presented the re-enactments at the October 17, 2008 PA-SHE Women’s Consortium at Slippery Rock University. Dr. Gido is also the Editor of the Prison Journal, a post she has held since 1999.

Kate Hanrahan & Jamie Martin received the 2007 IUP College of Heath and Human Services Award for Excellence in Research for their project on electronic monitoring and its impact on offenders and probation officers. Dr. Jamie Martin also won the 2008 IUP College of Heath and Human Services Teaching Award.

Randy Martin is a founding member of the Law and Criminal Justice branch of the Integral Institute (II). II is made up of approximately 450 individuals from around the world who are committed to developing more integral approaches to theory and practice in their various disciplines. Dr. Randy Martin’s paper “Integral Situational Ethical Pluralism: A Second-Tier Ethic for the 21st Century” presented at the first Biannual Integral Theory Conference in Concord, CA, August 2008, won the award for Contributions to Theory Development.

Alida Merlo is an Associate Editor for the International Journal of Police Science and Management, on the Editorial Boards of Crime & Delinquency and Youth Violence and Juvenile Justice, and on the Advisory Board of the Turkish Institute for Police Studies (TIPS) Connections. In 2006, the Alida V. Merlo Award was created in her honor at Slippery Rock University and is presented annually to an undergraduate student who has a distinguished academic record in Criminology. She is a Past President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences (ACJS) and was the Deputy Editor for the Journal of Criminal Justice Education from 2002-2005. In 2004, at the ACJS Annual Meeting, she received the Fellow Award for her distinguished contributions to criminal justice education, scholarly achievements in the discipline, and professional contributions to the organization. Dr. Merlo is currently the Chair of the Gerhard O.W. Mueller International Section Award Committee for ACJS; and the Deputy Chair of the Awards Committee for ACJS. She served on the American Society of Criminology 2006 Annual Meeting Program Committee and the ACJS 2007 and 2009 Annual Meeting Program Committees. She also is an approved reviewer for programs applying for ACJS Certification.

Robert Mutchnick serves as president of IUP-APSCUF, the union representing the faculty.

David Myers is the Interim Vice Provost for Research and Dean of Graduate Studies. He also is Editor of Criminal Justice Policy Review, an Associate Editor of Criminal Justice Research Reports, and a member of the Institutional Review Board of the National Center for Juvenile Justice.
