The Administrative network model includes a standard X: drive that is accessible by all admin network users. The X: drive structure contains a "Public" folder that provides read-access to university-wide items such as Human Resources forms.

Academic Technology Services (ATS) is requesting that access to X:\Public be expanded to include all university employees -- not just those employees that are users of the admin network.

ACOC and ACPAC are requested to endorse this request.

Given committee endorsement, ATS and the College Technology Managers (CTMs) will provide college employees with instructions on how to map the X: drive.

With this change, X:\Public will be available to all university employees. Note that the remaining portions of the X: drive will continue "as is" with X:\Temporary restricted to admin network users and X:\Committees and X:\Group Sharing restricted to groups of users requested by a given member of the Administrative Network Users Group. Provisions are already in place for faculty and academic staff to access the Committees or Group Sharing folders when they participate in groups organized by a member of the admin network.

ATS and the CTMs will continue to be responsible for providing "temporary" or "group sharing" areas for the academic community.
