Career Opportunities: Interior Design job projections predicted by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics through 2028:

· Interior Designer - 4% growth

. Median Wage: $56,040 (Occupational Outlook Handbook, 2019 data)

Program Features: The Interior Design program has a "Sophomore Portfolio Review" that is done at the completion of all second year studio classes. The purpose of this review is to prepare students for the upper level studio classes by offering a review of their acquired skill set, and provide additional support as needed. Each spring semester, upon the completion of the required courses, the program sponsors a "Senior Portfolio Show"; students, faculty, family, friends, and industry professionals are invited to this celebration of the Interior Design program.

Student Organizations: The students in the Interior Design program are encouraged to join at least one, if not all three, of the student professional organizations. The American Society of Interior Design (ASID) is a community of designers, industry representatives, educators, and students, advancing the interior design profession in both residential and commercial design. The International Interior Design Association (IIDA) is the Commercial Interior Design Association with a global reach, supporting design professionals, industry affiliates, educators, students, firms and their clients across 58 countries. The National Kitchen & Bath Association (NKBA) is the world's leading trade association promoting professionalism within the kitchen and bath industry.

Experiential Learning: The Interior Design program strongly encourages out of classroom experiences. Many of our students complete an internship in a variety of disciplines within the interior design industry, both commercial and residential. Faculty also encourage out of classroom experiences for the students with both professional and historical focuses. Places visited include professional trade shows, tours of professional firms and showrooms, and historically preserved homes and buildings.
