Program Description: The Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice offers students seeking careers in criminology or criminal justice a broad liberal arts education that encourages them to think critically about crime and justice issues and prepares them for careers in the criminal justice system. The degree programs offered are the Bachelor of Arts program in criminology and the Bachelor of Arts program in criminology/pre-law. Additionally, students may minor in criminology. Through the School of Graduate Studies and Research, the department also offers graduate work at both the master's and doctoral levels. The program in criminology and criminal justice has a fivefold objective: 1. The education of students for employment and leadership in the expanding field of criminology and criminal justice 2. The education of presently employed criminal justice personnel who recognize a need for furthering their education 3. The instruction of students who wish to acquire an understanding of the processes of criminal justice as a cultural part of their higher education 4. The instruction of students who wish to prepare for graduate study and/or research in criminology 5. A curriculum that provides an excellent foundation for students preparing for a career in law.

Career Opportunities: Criminal Justice job projections predicted by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics through 2028:

- Lawyer: 6 percent, as fast as average - median wage $120,910.00
- Arbitrator/Mediator: 8 percent, faster than average - median wage $62,270.00
- Hearing Officer: 3 percent, slower than average - median wage $99,850.00
- Paralegals/Legal Assistants---12 percent, much faster than average - median wage $50,940.00
- Police Officer: 5 percent, as fast as average - median wage $63,380
- Drug Abuse/Behavioral Counselor: 22 percent, much faster than average - median wage $44,630
- Criminologist: 9 percent, faster than average - Higher Education - median wage $82,050.00

Student Organizations: We encourage all Criminology students to become members of the Criminology Association, The Pennsylvania Prison Society, and/or the Forensic Science Club. Students who academically qualify also are recommended to join the local chapter of Alpha Phi Sigma (National Criminal Justice Honor Society). Student members regularly participate in fundraising and volunteer activities that provide them experiences that will improve their resume. Past experiences have included ride-alongs with various police organizations (Pittsburgh, D.C., NYC), prison visits, research presentations, and academic tournament participation at regional and national conferences. Additionally, in the past these clubs have organized their own individual and coordinated events.

Experiential Learning: Experiential learning is an important aspect of education. In the past, our students have enjoyed internships with the following organizations: U.S. Marshals Service; Department of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms; Ocean City Police Department; The Washington Center; U.S. Postal Inspectors; Philadelphia Police Department, as well as with many other federal, state, and local agencies associated with the criminal justice system and rehabilitative services. Additionally, students can study abroad in a host of countries or complete a "semester at sea".

Four-year Course Sequencing

Four-year Sequencing

The below four-year plan outlines the courses required in each semester of your baccalaureate degree. The goal is for you to visualize the years to come and understand what courses or other requirements are needed in order to graduate in four years. This also allows you to plan with your advisor for important engagement activities that support your higher education goals, such as planning for an internship, research, and/or study abroad. The summer and winter terms are also an opportunity to take courses or accomplish other goals.
