I. Catalog Description

RLST230/CRLG164 Biblical Hebrew II

Prerequisite: Biblical Hebrew I (RLST130/CRLG114)

3 credits
3 lecture hours
0 lab hour
(3c-01-3sh)

This course is a continuation of Biblical Hebrew I (RLST130/CRLG114), and has the same objective: to enable students to read the prose of Biblical Hebrew or Classical Hebrew. By learning the fundamentals of Biblical Hebrew grammar and vocabulary, students will thus acquire the tools and skill to do translation of this important text for themselves.

II. Course Objectives

This course continues where Biblical Hebrew I leaves off. By the end of this semester, students should:

- 1. Know the remaining conjugations of the Qal verbal stem: the Imperfect tense/aspect, the preterite or waw-consecutive forms, the jussive, cohortative, imperative, and the infinitive construct and absolute.
- 2. Know the remaining major stems of the Biblical Hebrew verbal system: Piel, Niphal, Hiphil, Hithpael and Pual, and their corresponding conjugations.
- 3. Know the Hebrew numerals from 1-1000.
- 4. Know the forms of pronominal suffixes attached to verbs.
- 5. Understand the syntax of narrative discourse in past, future, commands and concomitant circumstances.
- 6. Know approximately all the vocabulary words which occur in the Hebrew Bible fifty times or more.

III. Course Outline

(Based on the main required textbook by C. L. Seow)

- A. The Piel Perfect, ch. 15 (3 hours)
- B. The Hiphil Perfect, ch. 16 (3 hours)
- C. The Perfect with Object Suffixes, ch. 17 (2 hours)
- D. The Qal Imperfect (3 hours)
 - 1. Qal Imperfect of regular verbs, ch. 18
 - 2. Qal Imperfect of irregular or weak verbs, ch. 19
- E. The Syntax of narrative discourse: Preterite and Waw-Consecutive Forms, ch. 20 (3 hours)
- F. The Jussive and Imperative Moods, ch. 21 (2 hours)
- G. The Imperfect and Imperative with Object Suffixes, the Qal Infinitive Absolute, ch. 22 (3 hours)
- H. The Qal Infinitive Construct, ch. 23 (2 hours)

- I. The Piel Imperfect, Infinitives, and Imperative, ch. 24 (3 hours)
- J. The Hebrew Numerals, ch. 24 (3 hours)
- K. The Rest of the Hiphil forms, ch. 25 (2 hours)
- L. The Remaining (Less Common) Hebrew Verbal Stems (11 hours)
 - 1. The Niphal, ch. 26
 - 2. The Hithpael, ch.27
 - 3. The special forms of Stems with Geminate roots, ch. 28
 - 4. The Pual, ch. 29
 - 5. The Hophal, ch. 29
 - 6. Minor patterns with reduplication, ch. 30

IV. Evaluation Methods

- 25% Homework (from the lessons in the teaching grammar as assigned), and participation in class as homework is reviewed by students and professor.
- 20% Weekly quizzes on mostly vocabulary, but occasionally some points of grammar.
- 25% Midterm exam.
- 30% Final exam.

Grading Scale: 100-90% = A, 89-80% = B, 79-70% = C, 69-60% = D, <60% = F

V. Attendance Policy

Student participation and preparation is essential to a good grade in the course. Therefore, students are expected to have good attendance and may not miss more than three class hours in the semester; absences over three are not excused unless the student provides documentation from a health professional or a university official for an illness or emergency. Students who inform the instructor of an illness or emergency as soon as possible are allowed to turn in late homework or reschedule an exam or quiz within a reasonable time limit. Late homework, quizzes, or exams are otherwise not accepted without some deduction of grade points.

Course Analysis Questionaire

A. Details of the Course

- A1. This course is one of the controlled electives for students in the BA in Religious Studies. As a Critical Languages course, Biblical Hebrew satisfies the college foreign language requirement if a student takes levels I-IV. The reason for which the course is now being proposed as a joint cross-listing with Religious Studies is so that a larger number of students (up to 25) may be accommodated (rather than the limited numbers usually tutored in the Critical Languages program), especially having in mind Religious Studies majors and minors who require a Biblical language for their careers and/or graduate school. This is true also for a suggested Biblical Hebrew I (RLST130/CRLG114), being proposed separately. Usually a second year (levels III-IV) has a reduced number of students enrolled, therefore it is suggested that only levels I-II be regular courses on the curriculum in order to accommodate a larger number. Those few students wishing to take levels III-IV may take those courses through Critical Languages.
- A2. This course does not require changes in any other course in the department. A program revision of the BA in Religious Studies will include this course among the controlled electives.
- A3. This course has been offered as Special Topics 281 in Spring 2001 and Special Topics 281 in Spring 2002. 5 students were enrolled in Spring 2001, and 8 were enrolled in Spring 2002.
- A4. This course is not intended to be dual level.
- A5. This course is not to be taken for variable credit.
- A6. Similar courses are offered at the following institutions, among others:

University of Wisconsin, Madison: Biblical Hebrew University of Rochester: Elementary Biblical Hebrew University of Texas at Austin: First Year Biblical Hebrew I

University of Washington: Biblical Hebrew I

University of Michigan: Elementary Biblical Hebrew

A7. No professional society, accrediting authority, law or other external agency recommends or requires the content or skills of this proposed course.

B. Interdisciplinary Implications

- B1. This course will be taught by one instructor.
- B2. The content of this course does not overlap with any other at the University.
- B3. This course is cross-listed with Critical Languages. See also comments under A1 above.

C. Implementation

- C1. No new faculty member is required to teach this course. This course will be counted as one preparation and three hours of equated workload.
- C2. Other resources:
 - a. Current space allocations are adequate to offer this course.
 - b. No special equipment is needed for this course.
 - c. No laboratory supplies are necessary for this course.
 - d. Library holdings are adequate.
 - e. No travel funds are necessary.
- C3. The resources for this course are not funded by any grant.
- C4. This course will be offered every other Fall semester.
- C5. One section will be offered at a time.
- C6. Up to 25 students can be accommodated in this class in which students do a considerable amount of participating verbally.
- C7. No professional society recommends enrollment limits or parameters for this course.
- C8. This course does not involve the use of telecourses or the use of interactive technologies.

D. Miscellaneous

No additional information is necessary.

Tawny Holm Philosophy and Religious Studies 442 Sutton Hall, IUP

Dear Dr. Holm:

Thank you for sharing with me your course proposal for RLST 230 Biblical Hebrew Two. As you know, we have offered this course jointly, cross-listing it with CRLG 164 Hebrew Two, on two occasions now, and that has worked quite well. The purpose of this letter is to voice my strong support for your proposal.

Your point is well taken that Biblical Hebrew is essential for your majors, and yet your numbers clearly exceed the enrollment parameters of the Critical Languages Program, which caters to groups of fewer than ten students. Therefore, in order for Biblical Hebrew to be a useful course offering for your group, a new form of delivering the course is necessary. I believe we have accomplished this in the past few years with the cross-listing. To the best of my knowledge, there were no problems or complications of any kind during the two years that we did that. And the few students who did want to continue on with Hebrew III and IV were easily accommodated by the Critical Languages format.

I want to congratulate you for the solid work you have done on this course over the past three years. If there is anything else I can do to support your efforts, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Victor S. Drescher, Director Critical Languages program
