THTR 211 History and Literature: Classical

3 credits

3 lecture hours, 0 lab hours

A lecture course that surveys Western theater from its origins through the ancient Greeks to medieval times. Students will examine styles and genres of the period through the work of playwrights, actors, and theorists. The course includes the study of cultural, social, political, and economic contexts of Western theatre in this period; contextual comparisons to Eastern theatre of the same era; as well as the changes in performance practice, the architecture of performance space, theatre technology, and audience composition.

Course Outcomes and Assessment (Expected Undergraduate Student Learning Outcomes—EUSLO):

Upon successful completion of the course, students will be able to:

 Recognize the key developments in the theatre of this period, as well as the theories and principles that informed these developments

EUSLO 1: Informed Learners

Rationale: Assignments will require students to identify and recognize these key developments of theatre history.

• Analyze the work of key theater practitioners of this period

EUSLO 1 and 2: Informed and Empowered Learners

Rationale: Assignments will help students identify key practitioners and to make informed judgments regarding their work.

• Identify the historical, philosophical, and social perspectives that affected the creation of theatre in this period

EUSLO 1, 2, and 3: Informed, Empowered, and Responsible Learners
Rationale: Assignments will require students to address social perspectives and analyze connections between different cultural and historical contexts and theatrical creation.

 Discuss the different theatrical styles of the period, and analyze the relationships between these styles and the cultures and communities in which they evolved

EUSLO 1, 2, and 3: Informed, Empowered, and Responsible Learners

Rationale: Assignments will require students to identify styles, make informed judgments about how these styles influenced each other, and understand the identities and cultures of others

• Compare and contrast the major themes and concerns of the plays under study, including human concepts of, and relationship to, the divine and supernatural.

EUSLO 1 and 2: Informed and Empowered Learners

Rationale: Assignments will require students to identify contemporaneous beliefs regarding the supernatural, and to make analytical judgments regarding the effects of these beliefs on playmaking and audience reception.

 Understand the interrelationships between and across cultures expressed by the migration of theatrical activity

EUSLO 1, 2, and 3: Informed, Empowered, and Responsible Learners
Rationale: Assignments will help students identify migratory patterns in theatre activity; make analytical judgments regarding cross-cultural theatrical influences; and understand and respect the identities, histories, and cultures of others

 Apply the understanding of course information to the appreciation and evaluation of live performance

EUSLO 1 and 2: Informed and Empowered Learners

Rationale: Assignments will require students to identify theatrical patterns and techniques in live performances and to make evaluative judgments regarding the success or failure of these live performances.

Course Outline: This is a representative progression of major topics in the period. The specific examples used in each section may vary according to individual instructor.

Course Analysis Questionnaire

A. Details of the Course

- A1. This course is required for majors in the BA in Theater Program. This course offering is being created as part of a strategic review of the Department's Curriculum. The current History of Theatre requirements can be met without majors gaining a comprehensive knowledge of the history of Western theater, since only two of the four courses currently offered (THTR 205 Classic Theatre 1, THTR 205 Classic Theatre 2, THTR 207 Modern 1, and THTR 208 Modern 2) are required, resulting in chronological gaps in knowledge. The reorganization of the curriculum will result in three required courses that successively survey the history of Western theatre from origins to present day. This course is the first in that sequence.
- A2. This course will require changes in Classic Theatre 1 and 2.
- A3. This course has not been offered on a trial basis, but represents a re-organization of material currently taught in THTR 207 Classic 1, and THTR 208 Classic 2.
- A4. This course is not intended to be dual level.
- A5. This course is not to be taken for variable credit.
- A6. Similar courses are offered at the following institutions, among others:

University of Washington: History of Greek and Roman Theatre Tufts University: Theatre and Society I: Prehistory through 1700 Drury University: History of Theatre: Origins to Renaissance

A7. No professional society, accrediting authority, law or other external agency recommends or requires the content or skills of this proposed course.

B. Interdisciplinary Implications

- B1. This course will be taught by one instructor.
- B2. The content of this course does not overlap with any other at the University.
- B3. This course is not cross-listed.

C. Implementation

C1. No new faculty member is required to teach this course. The course offering is being created as part of a strategic review of the Department's Curriculum. This review has taken account of current Department complement and been structured accordingly. This course will be counted as one preparation and three hours of equated workload.

C2. Other resources:

- a. Current space allocations are adequate to offer this course.
- b. No special equipment is needed for this course.
- c. No laboratory supplies are necessary for this course.
- d. Library holdings are adequate.
- e. No travel is anticipated.
- C3. No grant funds were necessary to provide the resources for this course.
- C4. This course will be offered every four semesters.
- C5. One section will be offered at a time.
- C6. Up to 20 students can be accommodated in this class in which students do a considerable amount of writing.
- C7. No professional society recommends enrollment limits or parameters for this course.
- C8. This course does not involve the use of distance education.

D. Miscellaneous

No additional information is necessary.
