The Center for Multicultural Student Leadership and Engagement (MCSLE)

Elkin Hall: A Facility Request form can be picked from the MCSLE main office or requested via email from Ms. Debbie Butler at dbutler@iup.edu. Folger Hall: can also be used without a reservation to study, shoot pool, hook up gaming devices, etc.

The Office of Housing and Residential Living: Housing & Residential Living has several locations for students to reserve space on campus. All spaces will be servable through the 25Live space reservation system. Additional space requests can be made through the Public space reservation page on the Housing Website– <https://www.iup.edu/housing/livinglearning/use-and-scheduling-of-public-space/>

The Co-op: Any recognized student group/organization or campus department can reserve a room or table in the HUB seven days prior to the event by following these directions: Coop.iup.edu > Facility Reservations > Reservations Forms > select and download the form of the room or table > complete the form, save as, and resubmit to the link at the bottom of that page "upload completed form."

OHRL welcomed back over 1800 students to our residence halls for the Fall 2020 opening! Students are physically spaced out more than previous years, with most students assigned to their own private bedroom to encourage social distancing. OHRL is accommodating room changes a little differently this year...

Students may request a room change beginning Tuesday, September 8 by talking with their Residence Director. Instead of a paper form with students stopping by G37 Rudlock to view vacancies, as we have done in the past, we will be doing most of the room change process electronically to help with social distancing. Students that have questions regarding the process can contact their Residence Director, or email iup-housing@iup.edu for more information.

The IUP Food Pantry and Help Center (FPHC) is open for students starting Tuesday, September 8, from 12 pm – 7 pm. The Pantry is located in G-12 Suites on Pratt (ground floor). This year, the Center's theme is "feeding the soul of the student." We hope to provide food, personal, and fun items, in addition to educating students through workshops that will "feed" the whole person, not just their physical hunger.

To donate food items or to volunteer, contact the Food Pantry administrator at food-pantry@iup.edu. To stay connected with the FPHC on Instagram and Facebook, follow at @iupfoodpantryfc.

The Center for Multicultural Student Leadership and Engagement (MCSLE) hosted its first MEET-UP. The social event, specifically for Black and Brown students, provided an opportunity for students to ask questions, meet staff members, and engage with their peers. The event was part of Welcome Week activities and was held on Saturday, August 22. Over 90 students were in attendance!

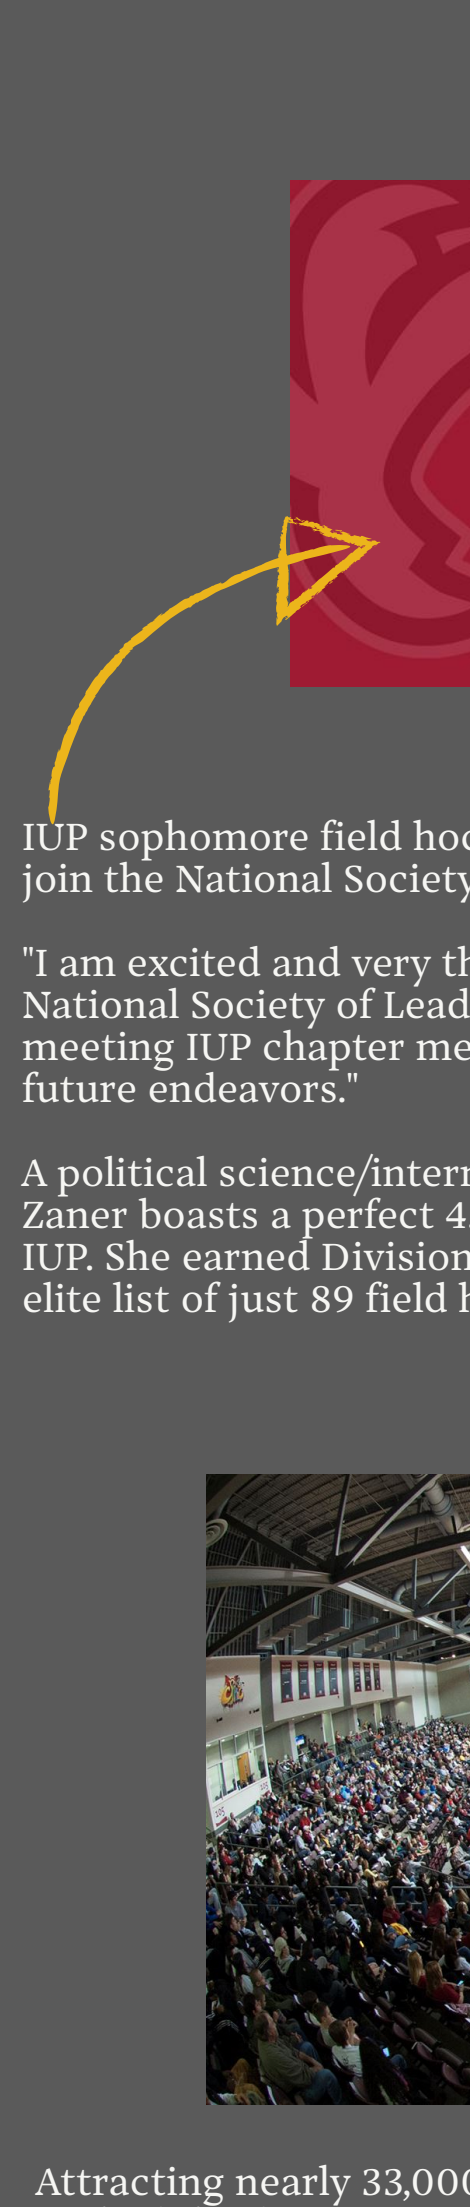

You can stay connected to inform your Black and Brown students of upcoming events by following MCSLE on social media @iup_mcsle.

Fun and games were the focus on Friday, Aug 28, in Elkin Hall. It was there that The Center for Multicultural Student Leadership and Engagement hosted its second successful MEET-UP. This time, the theme was Game Night for Black and Brown students. Twenty-five to thirty students attended and enjoyed the fun by participating in a variety of activities, including corn hole, spades, Uno, checkers, chess, and more!

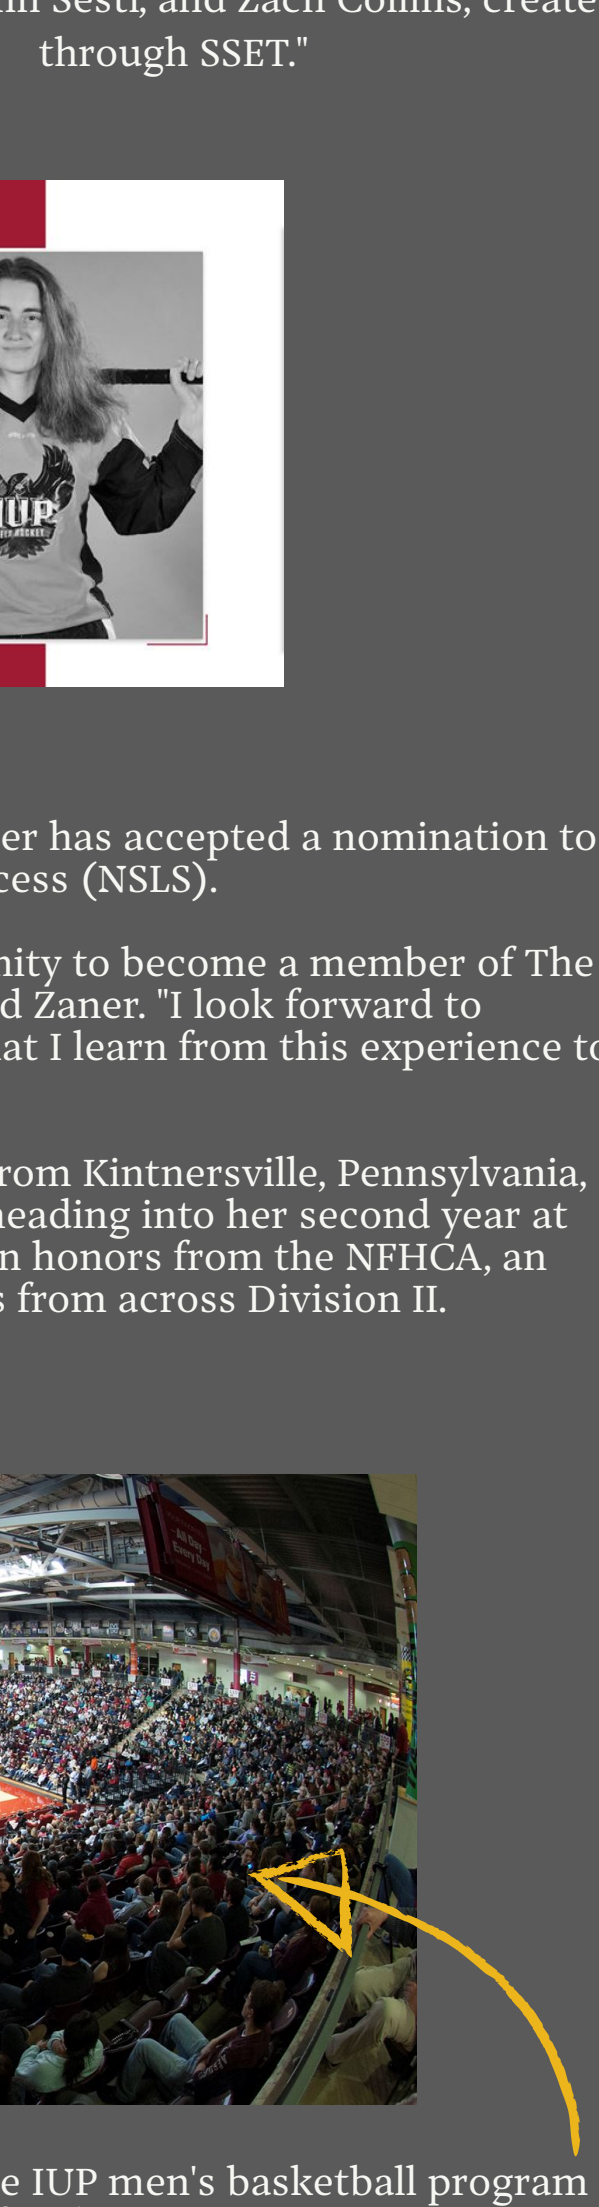

Folger Hall is now open for commuters and students residing both on and off-campus. Stop in and grab a bagged lunch, relax, engage in group project work, or shoot pool. Vending is available also! Encourage students to stop in this week!

Achievements and Recognition

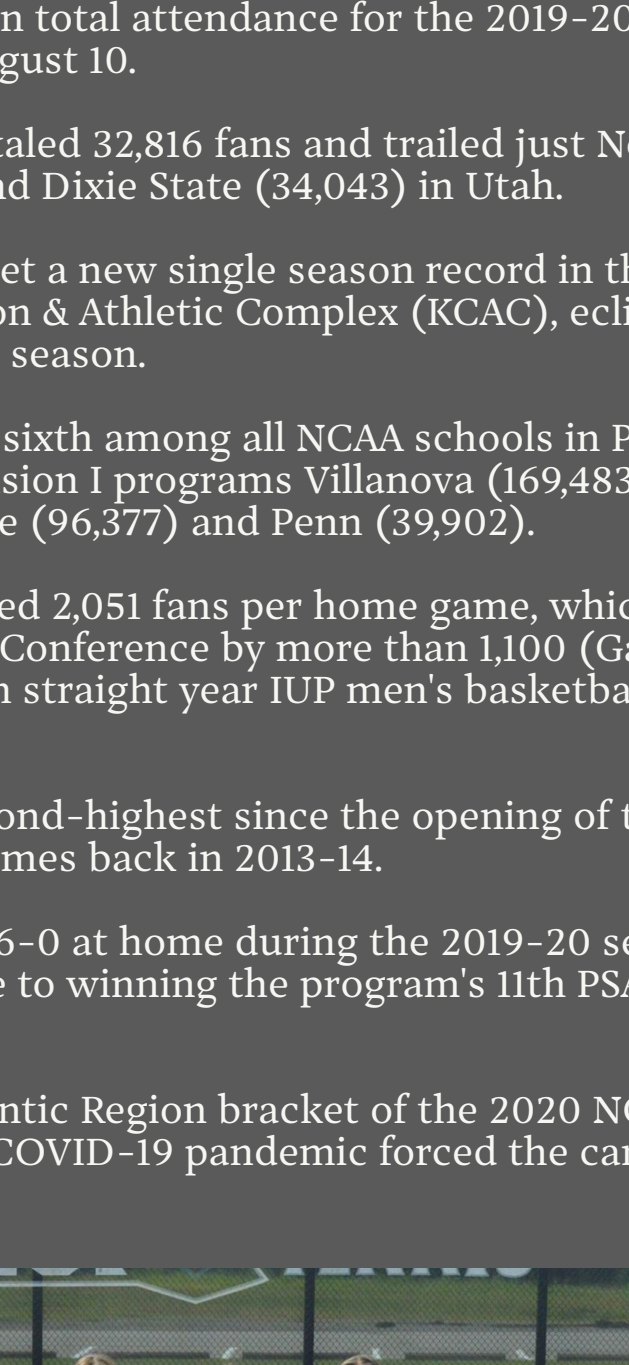

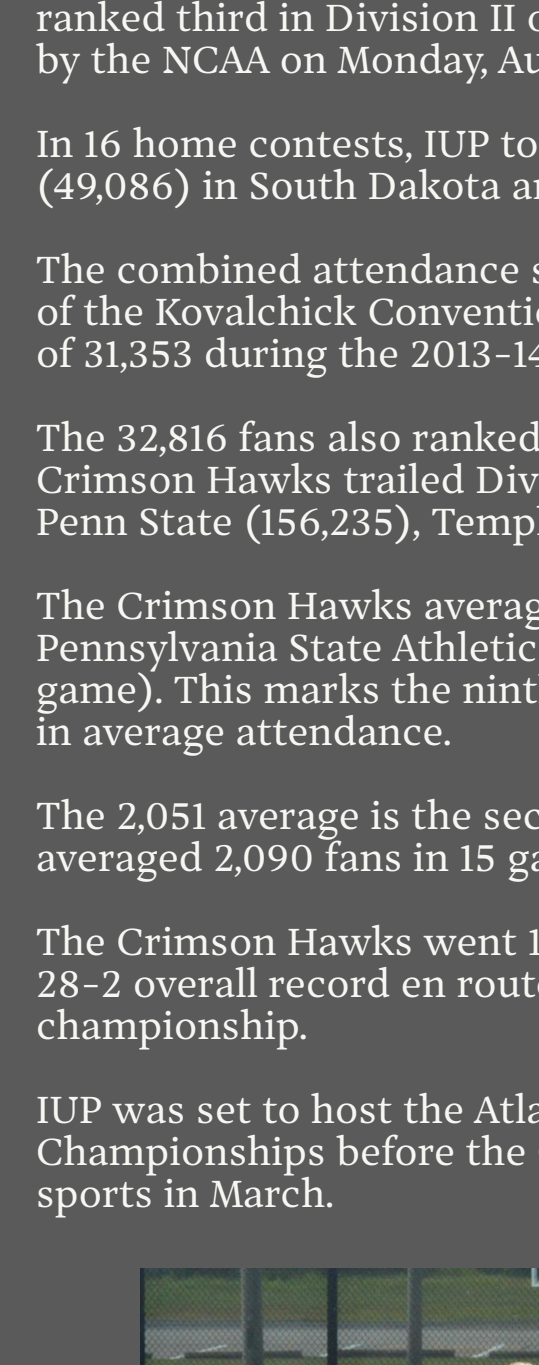

The Office of Student Conduct is now the Office of Student Support and Community Standards and Mr. Adam Jones serves as the office's director. In this new role, Mr. Jones is responsible for all campus disciplinary procedures for students and organizations, co-chairing the Student Support and Engagement Team, co-convening the Care Team with Dr. Daniel Burkett, co-chairing the Difficult Dialogues Project with Rachel Desoto-Jackson, and collaborating with the Office of Social Equity to ensure IUP is compliant with Federal Title IX Regulations. You can reach Adam at adjones@iup.edu or 724-357-1254.

Mr. Tedd Cogar was named Senior Assessment Coordinator & LGBTQIA Support for the Division for Student Affairs. "I'm here to assist with assessment efforts across the division, work with areas that are undergoing program reviews and other accreditation processes, and professional development for the division," says Cogar. LGBTQIA Support works primarily with students who identify within the specific affinity area, as well as faculty and staff diversity efforts. Cogar states, "a lot of my work has been in collaboration with Social Equity around campus climate."

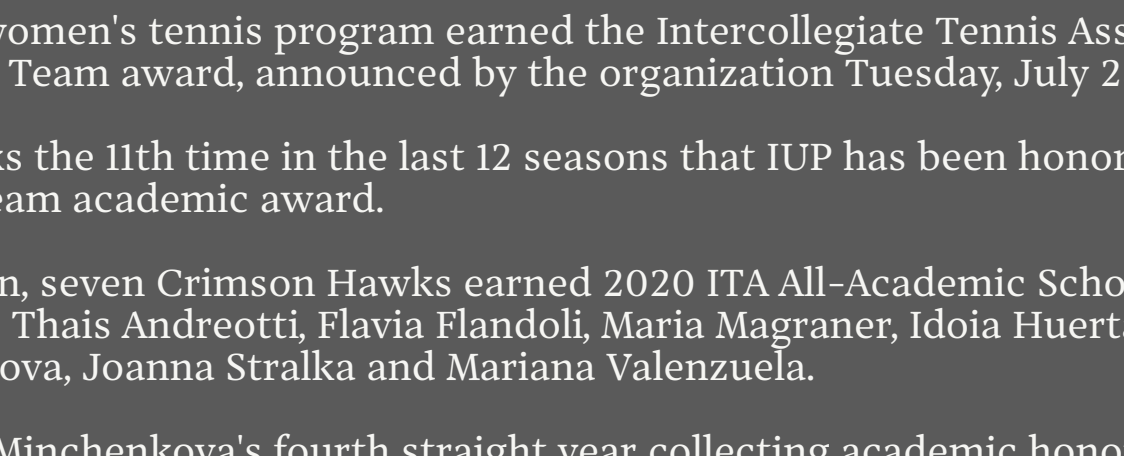

Ms. Caitlin Aiello was named Director of Communications for the Division of Student Affairs. In this new role, she will manage all aspects of communications from the Division. Additionally, Ms. Aiello was named a judge for the international 2019-2020 CASE Awards, has spoken at the national Exlibris webinar, "The Impact of Emergency Distance Learning on Student Affairs," and co-chairs the Student Support and Engagement Team (SSET). Aiello states, "I'm very excited to work for IUP in this new capacity." Aiello will continue to co-chair the Professional Development Team, chair the Student Communications Committee, sit on several other university-wide committees, and provide support within the Division. "I particularly look forward to strengthening our divisional efforts between MARCOM and the rest of the university, as well as working as an IUP Guide in the IUP Guide Program, a program that I and my colleagues, Adam Jones, Ann Sesti, and Zach Colleagues, created through SSET."

IUP sophomore field hockey goalie Amanda Zaner has accepted a nomination to join the National Society of Leadership and Success (NSLS).

"I am excited and very thankful for the opportunity to become a member of The National Society of Leadership and Success," said Zaner. "I look forward to meeting IUP chapter members and applying what I learn from this experience to future endeavors."

A political science/international studies major from Kintnersville, Pennsylvania, Zaner boasts a perfect 4.0 grade point average heading into her second year at IUP. She earned Division II Scholar of Distinction honors from the NFHCA, an elite list of just 89 field hockey student-athletes from across Division II.

Attracting nearly 33,000 visitors last season, the IUP men's basketball program ranked third in Division II on total attendance for the 2019-20 season, announced by the NCAA on Monday, August 10.

In 16 home contests, IUP totaled 32,816 fans and trailed just Northern State (49,086) in South Dakota and Dixie State (34,043) in Utah.

The combined attendance set a new single season record in the nine-year history of the Kovalchick Convention & Athletic Complex (KCAC), eclipsing the old mark of 31,353 during the 2013-14 season.

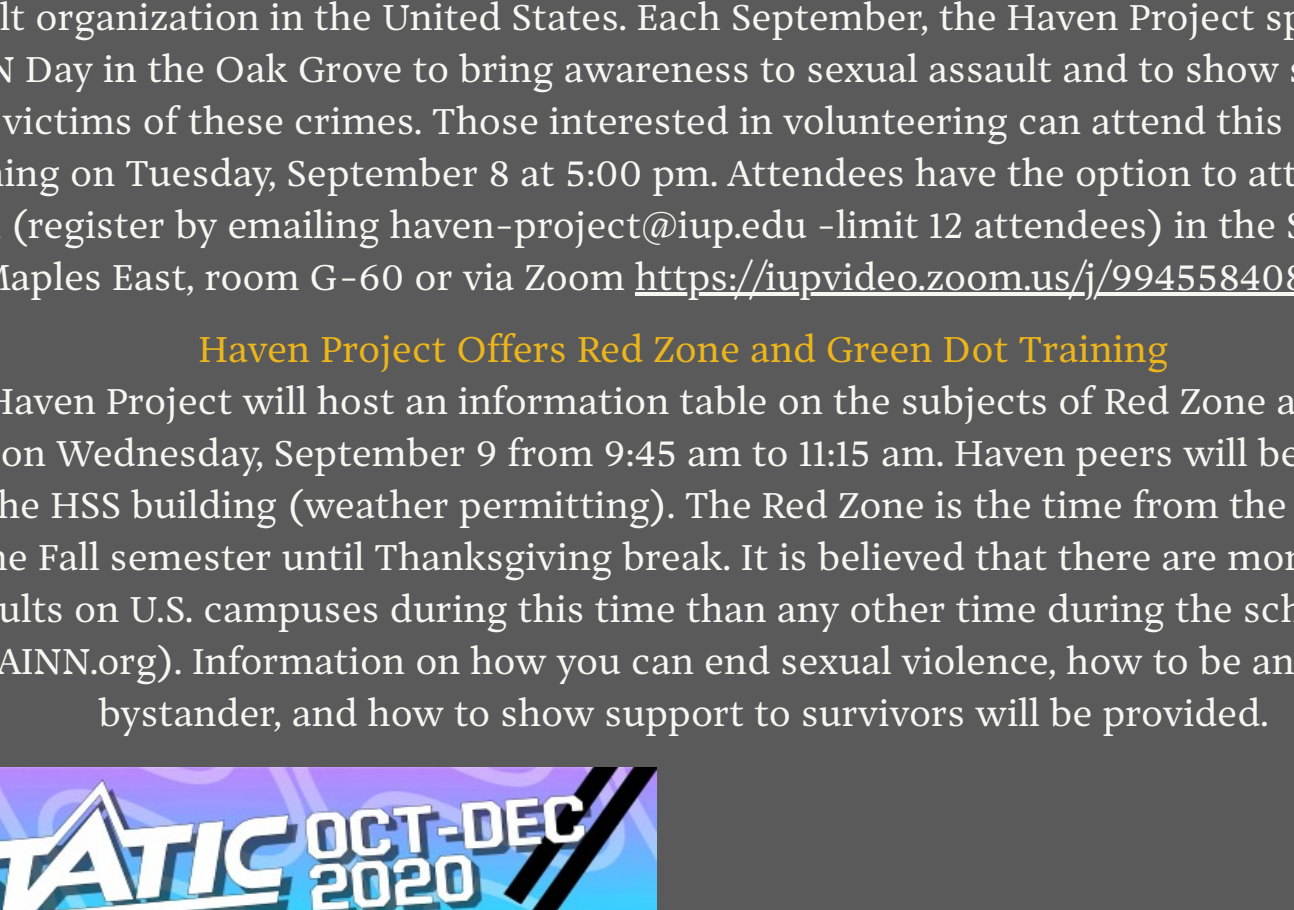

The 32,816 fans also ranked sixth among all NCAA schools in Pennsylvania. The Crimson Hawks trailed Division I programs Villanova (169,483), Pitt (158,847), Penn State (156,235), Temple (96,377) and Penn (39,902).

The Crimson Hawks averaged 2,051 fans per home game, which paced the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference by more than 1,100 (Gannon, 896 per game). This marks the ninth straight year IUP men's basketball has led the PSAC in average attendance.

The 2,051 average is the second-highest since the opening of the KCAC. IUP averaged 2,090 fans in 15 games back in 2013-14.

The 2019-20 season went 16-0 at home during the 2019-20 season, boasting a 28-2 overall record en route to winning the program's 11th PSAC tournament championship.

IUP was set to host the Atlantic Region bracket of the 2020 NCAA Division II Championships before the COVID-19 pandemic forced the cancellation of college sports in March.

The IUP women's tennis program earned the Intercollegiate Tennis Association All-Academic Team award, announced by the organization Tuesday, July 28.

This marks the 11th time in the last 12 seasons that IUP has been honored by the ITA with its team academic award.

In addition, seven Crimson Hawks earned 2020 ITA All-Academic Scholar Athletes, including: Thais Andreotti, Flavia Flandoli, Maria Magraner, Idoia Huerta, Katya Minchenkova, Joanna Stralka and Mariana Valenzuela.

This was Minchenkova's fourth straight year collecting academic honors, the third straight for Magraner, and the second career honor for Valenzuela.

A Message from the Counseling Center

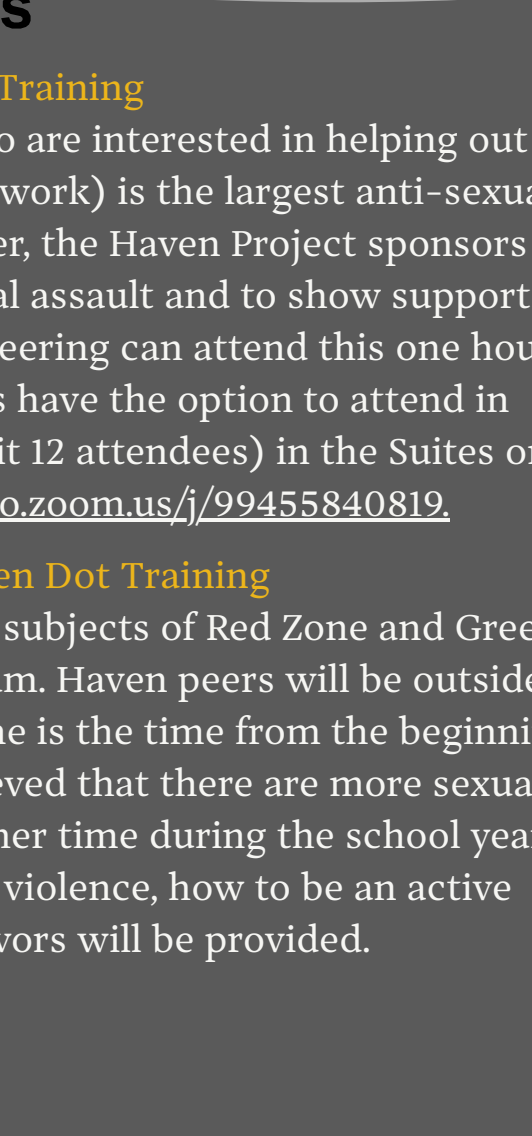

In these uncertain times, it is normal for students to experience increased feelings of stress, anxiety, and other mental health concerns. Although the Counseling Center doors are locked, all services will continue to be offered remotely to protect the health and safety of students, staff, and faculty.

The Counseling Center provides confidential counseling and case management services to enrolled students through HIPAA-Compliant Zoom or phone. Students do not need to be worried about a co-pay; counseling services are included in their health and wellness fee so they won't be charged for the appointment.

Students can give us a call @ 724-357-2621 or email counseling-services@iup.edu. We offer same-day telehealth appointments if students call or email before 3 PM.

Counselors are available to consult with faculty, staff, and students via phone. The counselor on call will listen to the individual's concerns and assist them in finding ways to deal with the presenting situation.

The Counseling Center offers services Monday- Friday 8:00 am – 4:30 pm.
